France on Campus Award 2016

CALL FOR APPLICATIONS

"Bring the spirit of French culture to your school! The France on Campus Award is an invitation to explore your creativity and to take on ambitious and original projects. Now is your chance! Seize this opportunity!" —Wes Anderson

Are you eager to explore a new culture? Already have a passion for France? Want to share your enthusiasm for French language and culture with your campus community?

The Cultural Services of the French Embassy, in partnership with Kickstarter, with support from NAFSA: Association of International Educators (NAFSA) and the Association of Public and Land-grant Universities (APLU), has launched the second edition of the France on Campus Award under the patronage of film director Wes Anderson, to discover, celebrate and support student-led initiatives that explore France in new and creative ways.

The Award is intended to help student organizations eager to launch or continue a major France-related project on campus by providing a unique package of funding, mentorship and networking. With this support, awardees will be expected to craft initiatives that expose new audiences to French language and culture on their campuses and beyond.

The call for applications is open from September 28 until November 6, 2016. Projects can encompass all fields, including (but not limited to) visual arts, design, film, food, journalism, music, photography, performance, publishing, science, and technology.

The Cultural Services will select ten finalists to receive mentorship and networking support for their projects. The first and second place winners will receive $2,000 and $1,000 grants respectively, to cover the cost of implementing their projects.

Think out of the box and bring France to your campus!
